Seen, Heard and Told

By The Editor

V

We most earnestly invite the attention of our readers to two articles by Mr. Allen in this issue: one on the editorial page, and another on the first page of the second section. Mr. Allen, a Canadian by birth, held a commission in the British Army and in the U. S. Army during the first World War, is a world traveler and knows his subjects. His articles always provoke thought.

The old lady has gone to Hot Springs and I am foot-loose and fancy free and already as lonesome as the bad place.

More and more men are being added to the force working at Camp McCain. Barracks are rising like magic. The spur paralleling the main line of the I. C. is being pushed rapidly. Work has started on the hospital area. An endless stream of gravel and sand pours into the area. The huge warehouses near old Elliott are being built rapidly. Everything there is a stir and a bustle.

Engineers are still surveying the proposed site of the air field north of Grenada and, according to latrine dope, the building of the field is a foregone certainty.

There is a lot of devilment going on in Grenada. The get rich quick artists, the camp followers and the twilight sisters continue to enter this area, but there are no available apartments.

LOST: the doors from the jack barn.

Harry Burkley, a charter member, set a good example to the other charter members by paying off a little in advance of advance.

Horn and Greenfield are not likely to get into any devilment this week-end, and we hope that they will have enough work to keep out next week-end. Wonder if they have any printing done at the camp.

There is dern little to be optimistic about in the news reports. The only bright spot is in Russia where the soldiers of that nation do not camouflage their defeats by saying they are "strategic retreats."

Much obliged to my favorite waitress for a fine pipe and a can of tobacco.

A good many cars that we observe have not the government "use tax" tag on the. Too bad.

The cotton squares are taking strategic retreats in the face of the boll weevils.

Aint they sweet.

A lot of folks in Grenada are much more interested in getting some of this government money than they are in the war.

And speaking of the court house yard, they ought to get some of the prisoners from the jail to help Uncle Peter keep the place cleaned up of cigarette butts, tobacco sacks, cigar stubs, quids of chewing tobacco, and other trash and litter. The bunch of waiting men constantly there create a big mess naturally.

dere mr top. did yu c ower ole fren mr long steeple ford n the hiding bug hotell n jaxon misipi a fue weaks ergo. sumbuddy sed it tuk 2 min 2 tote him 2 hiz rum. he musta ben sik at hiz stummick r sumthin.

I guess Theodore Bigblow will be down in Mississippi soon tooting his horn for Me Too.

One prominent merchant on the square suggested that, if a jack barn is allowed to operate on Main Street, it would be in order to errect a public latrine in the center of the public square.

I will give a year's subscription to the GCW to the person who makes the best suggestion about the use of the jack barn can be put to. "Tear it down," is a suggestion that is barred, as I would have too many ties and duplications.

The reason I thought the palatial building next to Piggly Wiggly was a jack barn is this: the other day Joe McAfee was towing a trailer containing his jack and had to stop in front of the building. The jack looked over and thought it was his tin home on Redgrass and brayed long and loud.

Wonder if they have any printing done at the camp?

Sunday afternoon. Folks in an unending stream riding idly by, wasting unreplaceable rubber!! Not a care on earth!! No war going on!! No need to conserve rubber or anything else!! The war will be over by Christmas anyway!! Oh, me.

Grenada Lions Club's New President Seated

Rev. C. S. Liles became the President of the Grenada Lions Club on July 1st, succeeding Mr. Juel Batson. The Rev. Mr. Liles is Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church. At a recent convention he was elected Deputy District Governor of this district.

Library Closed For The Fourth

Grenada County Library will be closed Saturday, July 4th. Please make note and obtain your week-end reading material by Friday.

"Tap Roots" by James Street is now avilable at the library. It is another Mississippi Territory story of the Dabney Family from "Oh, Promised Land" in the period prior to the Civil War. Jones County, the Free State of Lebanon, is the location of the tale; how it seceded from Mississippi and organized an independent republic. The figure of Keith Alexander, the duelist, makes a colorful splash as he arrives from parts unknown and undertakes the task of taming Morna Dabney who proves his match.

"Old Soldiers Never Die" by Ronald is a delightfully humorous and quixotic story of modern England and its clash and classes and ages in the war days. This book is kin to the "Pied Piper" in its appeal.

"Thunderbird" by David Garth is another of his romantic adventures; beginning in Vermont, touching Florida, ad involving an island in the Caribbean in a will-o-the-wisp pursuit.

First Sack Of Flour

For countless years, the editor has recorded the first bloom, the first square and the first open boll. In all those years, he has never had the pleasure or recording the first watermelon, the first cantelope or the first bushel of potatoes.

However, this week the editor had the pleasure of recording the first sack of flour from Chuck Trotter's Shaw plantation. He states that the wheat was grown on his farm in Sunflower county and milled and sacked at the flour mills in Shelby. Mr. Trotter, it is hardly necessary to say, is business manager of Ole Miss.

Heart Ailment Fatal To Felin H. Nelson

Felix H. Nelson, 70, Pope merchant and planter, died Saturday noon in the Grenada Hospital of a heart ailment.

He was a lifelong resident of Pope and had been prominent in Panola county affairs.

Funeral services were held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. C. McCurdy of Pope, and burial was in Chapel Hill cemetery. The Rev. R. C. Nanney of Pope Methodist church and the Rev. J. W. Lee pastor of Batesville Baptist Church officiated.

Mr. Nelson was president of the Yacona Drainage District and chairman of the Rural Housing Authority for Panola County. He also served in the Mississippi Legislature for eight years, 1916 to 1924, and was a colonel of the staff of former Governor Hugh White. He was a Methodist.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Maude A. Nelson; three daughters, Mrs. A. L. Taylor, of Lambert, Mrs. L. A. Dufard, Jr., of Dufard, and Mrs. W. A. Commer; and two brothers, H. C. and B. F. Nelson, of Pope.

Fifth Registration Brings In 18-20 Group

The fifth registration of men for Selective Service was held in three places, the county court house in Grenada, the Gore Springs School and the Holcomb School, Tuesday. It was necessary here to get an additional number of blanks and to continue registration until about 9 o'clock. This was due to the unusually large number of men in this age group employed at Camp McCain.

Meetings At Central Baptist Church

Beginning Sunday, July 5, hours eleven and eight on Sunday, Ten and 8:30 during the week, Rev. A. M. Overton, pastor, Fulton, Mississippi Baptist Church, will do the preaching. His first sermon will be Sunday night.

In our announcement we call it a Bible meeting. It will be just that. Brother Overton is a preacher of the Word, par excellent. He preaches to please God and to bless man. He does not seek to prove any pet theory. The Bible is what the world is standing in the need of. There is real delight and great profit for all who hear this earnest, capable preacher.

To all our home folks and also to all our visitors we extend a hearty invitation. We want you to come and feel at home with us.

E. R. Henderson, Pastor.

Joint Meeting of Legion and Auxiliary Friday Night

Announcement has been made that a joint meeting of the American Legion and the Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion will be held at the Legion Hut at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and refreshments consisting of plenty of ice cream and cake will be served.

A full attendance is most earnestly solicited.

Aint they sweet.

THE MAJORS PITTMANS

MAJOR COLE D. PITTMAN, M. C.

MAJOR WAYNE PITTMAN, M. C.

The handsome young army medical officers pictured above are sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pittman, who live in the extreme southeastern part of Grenada county. Within recent weeks, each of these officers have been promoted from captaincy to majoritys.

Major Cole D. Pittman is stationed at Chanute Field, Ill., while his brother, Major Wayne Pittman, is stationed at Maxwell Field, Alabama.

Sailor Powell White Recounts Marblehead Escape

After a miraculous escape with the bombed U. S. cruiser Marblehead, Powell White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White, of the Gore Springs community is at home for a 30 days furlough. Still noticibly nervous after a most harrowing experience and a most marvelous escape, Powell (who is serving his fifth year in the U. S. N.) related some of his experiences in a recent visit to the GCW, but let his commanding officer retell the tale as it was told in a New York newspaper:

MARBLEHEAD SAGA TOLD BY CAPTAIN

The oddyssey of the U. S. cruiser Marblehead, "bombed to hell" in the battle of the Dutch East Indies, was told today by her commander, Captain Arthur G. Robinson, as she lay berthed in an Eastern port.

A white - haired, ruddy - faced man who remained for 60 hours on the bridge of his ship in the midst of an inferno of bombs, Capt. Robinson told how the rudderless cruiser steered by speeding up one engine and slowing the other.

TELLS OF ATTACK

"We were trying to intercept a Jap convoy on Feb. 4 at Macassa in the Dutch East Indies," he said when 37 bombing planes attacked us.

"The first bomb struck and we all fell flat on the deck. That took away our steering gear. They bombed us for three hours after that.

"Two fires broke out but the men extinguished them. We were badly flooded, and the crew made a bucket brigade. For more than an hour we just circled and turned, but our A-A guns blazed away and we knocked two Jap bombers out of the sky.

MADE PORT

"For 48 hours the crew bailed out, they were marvelous. The planes vanished, and we knew we had to make port before another attack. We had reason to expect one because one plane was shadowing us.

"We got to lay by using our engines for steering, while two destroyers stood by and warned us when we got in too close to shore.

"Our holds were welded together in a south Java port. We got out of there just in time because a few days later it was bombed.

"We went 2,500 miles to Ceylon, India, without a rudder. We got our rudder fixed there and sailed out of there just in time, too. A few days later Ceylon was bombed."

He said that "for the first eight or ten hours" after the bombing "we had less than a 50 percent chance of surviving. After that it depended on whether another attack would take place."

Forty-Six Negro Selectees Leave

On Wednesday morning of this week 46 negro selectees were sent on a chartered bus to the receiving station at Camp Shelby. This is the largest group of negro men so far sent at one time.

Later in the month, probably about the 15th a large bunch of white selectees will be sent off.

The July requisitions for men are the greatest so far during this war.

Many Businesses To Close Monday

The 4th of July holiday will be observed in Grenada by many stores, and both banks, on next Monday, July 6, instead of on Saturday, July 4th.

There is lots of meanness going on in and about Grenada. Thieve are plentiful. Arrests are numerous. The courts, both county and city, are busy.

Lots of meanness going on.

Announcement has been made that the U. S. P. O. will remain open both Saturday, July 4 and Monday, July 6.

Mayor Proby Issues Proclamation

Whereas July 4th falls this year on Saturday and it has been deemed best and more convenient to those fine men and women engaged in our midst in the building of our U. S. Army Camp that we celebrate the [illegible] on Monday July 6, 1942.

Whereas it is fitting [illegible] that we assert our devotion and pledge anew our allegiance to our great American Government and its institutions and this is particularly true at this time when we are fighting for the preservation of that government and those institutions.

Therefore, I, E. C. Proby, Mayor of the City of Grenada, Mississippi, hereby proclaim that Monday, July 6, 1942, be and hereby is set aside for the time of our celebration of the birth of the greatest government ever devised by man, founded upon the principles of our Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States and for the renewal of our pledge of loyalty and devotion and our purpose to support, preserve and defend the same with that same spirit which actuated those who brought about their birth.

E. C. PROBY, Mayor.

Romance And Camouflage

(C. Whitaker, Mumble-Jumble & R. Pleasants)

Greetings — Salutations — and Hellos Here we are back again after a week's vacation with a lot of "hooshwah" and "bosh" about the city kiddies.

Gallant Sir Walter Raleigh Warren (Jazz) Robinson, Jr. has been keeping "purty" steady company with Lamount's cousin from Louisville. They have been seen taking in all the hot spots in ye ole burg.

Uncle Tommie Houston and his best boy friend were seen having fun Friday nite. It was rumored that Uncle is through with women. It's also rumored that George Washington will speak in Grenada's public square Friday before election day.

Speaking of Bakers Lake (or were we?) — a whole caboodle of city dwellers went out there for swimming and what not dance Friday nite. Yes. After being held up on Bent Four's private toll bridge (the one nearest to Billie Saunders' and the one that gives you a thrill of a life time when you go over it fast) by Toll Cop Houston the overstuffed party got back to town. The next day found some of them suffering with over indulgence.

Comrads Keeton and Rode and Comradess Avent and Horton fished and fished at Lou's lake the other day. The fish didn't bite, maybe because Penn was given famous quotations of our beloved, honorable, and etc., senator Theo. G. Bilbo.

Ruth Lee Morrow is reported to be having the time of her life in Alabama. She is due back in her ole home town in the near future.

Jackie's "A-1 in the army and A-1 in her heart" man was here this week Lt. Ed Penn in case you've been out of circulation for the last hundred years.

Anne Duncan came back from camp in Alabama Sunday after having a gala time in the mountains. She brought fond memories and a lot of Alabama bug bites.

After consulting hundreds of train and bus bulletins, Cynthnia Wade took off for New York City last week to pass the week there. She's back now with enough wonderful memories to fill a book.

Congratulations to James Thomas. We're willing to bet a whole Chocolate Soda that he'll be running West Point before long and that he'll be called in to consult with the President about army affairs.

The gals and boys working at the camp are (in case you don't know) Martha Bess Brown, Elizabeth Oakley, Hazel Turner, two of your scribes, (Mumble-Jumble has in his apprication) Billy Semmes, D. Whitaker, Will Horton, Cynthnia Wade, Ernest Penn, Benton Keeton, Ray Brown, Rowe and Bob Rhett, Bryan Baker.

Benton Keeton is the fanciest thing that is at the whole Camp McCain business section with his T-Model fordio and the converted top and blackpatent seats. Speaking of B. K. his one and only love Jeanie with the light brown hair is home after visiting in California and all points west.

Did you ever see that crazy moron that kept bugs in his mouth because he didn't want the messy things messing up his pockets.

Margrete Green's newest is one of the JONES boys. Plus station wagon.

Sgt. Guy Clanton's Fate Still Questionable

While the [illegible] holds out to turn [illegible] still hope for the soldier to return. [illegible] gives hope yet that Sgt. Guy L. Clanton, son of Mrs. Carrie [illegible] of Grenada, may yet be alive. Two weeks ago Mrs. Clanton was informed by Washington that he was missing in action. Saturday last she was informed from the same source that he was [illegible] while a little later the Red Cross reported that he was either captured or missing in action.

He was a [illegible] in the Air Corps and was in action in the Far East, presumably based in Australia.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB

The [illegible] home of Mrs. Sam Hall, corner of Sidney Street was the scene of a club meeting Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock when members and four extra guests enjoyed duplicate bridge for several hours. The home which lends itself beautifully to decoration, had choice garden flowers arranged artistically and placed at points of vantage. Three tables were arranged in the living room for the games. At intermission a delectable stuffed tomato salad with wafers and iced tea was served.

Those [illegible] high rating were Mesdames E. S. Hall and E. L. Bass. Second high rating was made by Mesdames L. C. Noble and E. L. Morrow.

Non-members guests present were Mesdames Bass, Morrow, Hodgkins and Miss Eloise Wilkins.

[illegible] was seen with Mabel Louise [illegible] at Holcomb Sunday [illegible] what he thinks [illegible]

Billie Semmes says that his job consists of [illegible] with his [illegible] friends who have the itch.

We saw Polly Elliott and Janie George [illegible] dignified Sophomore at the [illegible] Monday nite. There also came the [illegible] Herring and Bob Campbell.

Paul Lockett has been seen around almost everywhere and at all times since he's been home on leave. It sure is good to see him around and we could just name oodles of people who are going to miss the day that he goes back.

Hi [illegible] is still carrying the torch for a certain little Margin Street gal . . . Bryan Baker says that every Saturday (Pay Day) is just another Christmas . . . Bodie Gillon and Margrete Spain are working very, very hard at Spains Store every afternoon . . . Mary Lou went with her folks and the Thomas to Hot Springs Tuesday . . . Jack Ward blessed his old home town the last week end . . . He's a "Working on the Railroad Man" now . . . Larry Noble is still "Deep in the Heart of Texas" if a coyote hasn't gotten him.

GCW Causes Meeting Of Congressional Mutual Admiration Society

It is seldom that a country editor has the credit for calling a great pow-wow in the halls of the national Congress, but according to the JACKSON DAILY NEWS [illegible], that is exactly what happened last week. It was a regular meeting of the mutual admiration society.

The other [illegible] Ross Collins [illegible] under the Congressman's [illegible] him into action. It seems that [illegible] over there in Arkansas [illegible] a Congressman [illegible] Terry whose [illegible] national defense is approximately the same as [illegible] Congressman [illegible] with Ross [illegible] in the [illegible] one after another [illegible] Messrs. Collins and Terry for their [illegible] recommendations [illegible] the Flying Fortress. It is [illegible] Messrs. Terry and Collins were the daddies of the Flying Fortress, as they claim, [illegible] chicken [illegible] were very prolific.

The words of [illegible] praise in the mouths of their colleagues will soon be appearing in Mississippi in franked envelopes [illegible] the people of Mississippi [illegible] for which [illegible] a meeting of the [illegible] society. [illegible] In fact, the GCW received a "press [illegible]," the back of which we are using to write this editorial, giving full details of this meeting of the Congressional Mutual Admiration Society, said release having been received [illegible] first thing Sunday morning.

In Volume 77, Page [illegible], 52nd Congress, First Session, Page 6017, Congressman McCormick of Massachusetts had this to say: "These [illegible] belongs to a school in this country which believes there should be no Army and no Navy. There are some in this country who believe that way—that we should show the world our [illegible] by being defenseless."

Now, in case you [illegible] the Mutual Admiration [illegible] Society, Congressman McCormick extends his remarks in the [illegible] an article written by Ross Collins for the Readers' Digest, in which McCormick said that Collins was a military expert.

Why I Am Agin' Them

I [illegible] other people are going to do, but [illegible] of the manner in which our [illegible] in Washington, have [illegible] I am going to vote more of an [illegible] this time. I believe that [illegible] who are now representing Mississippi.

You and I [illegible] nor do we have the facilities [illegible] this nation needs. You and I do [illegible] our potential enemies are doing [illegible] all of this waste was [illegible] voting upon its [illegible] FURNISH THE BOYS [illegible] pay the SUPREME PRICE, for the [illegible] by our elected representatives in the U. S. Senate and in the U. S. House of Representatives.

It is common knowledge that only a FEW men do the work in Congress and that most of them spend most of their time in enjoying the [illegible], the cocktail parties and [illegible] in the District of Columbia and in nearby Maryland and Virginia. It is my honest opinion that Mississippi does not furnish even ONE of that FEW who do the real work.

[illegible] in the "old" faces, many of them clearly [illegible] for a "new deal." I therefore do not expect [illegible] for even one person now serving [illegible] in Washington.

What about you? Aren't you tired of old faces? Aren't you yearning for a new deal?

The Rubber Situation

Somebody in the high councils of the government KNOWS how much rubber there is available, how much rubber the national war effort requires and how much this nation must supply our allies. Whoever this somebody is, he should take the American people into his confidence. If necessary, the American people will surrender the tires from their passenger cars and store and jack up their passenger cars for the duration. Certainly the American people are not so short sighted as to prefer joy riding to Liberty.

If it IS necessary that rubber on pleasure cars be commandeered, the sooner it is commandeered the better. To be a popular action, however, the government MUST take Henry Ford's private car (and let Henry ride to work on the street car, or in a buggy) if the government is going to take the private car belonging to the ordinary run-of-the-mill citizen.

Commandeering of rubber from private cars would have serious repercussions everywhere, but not so serious repercussions as the loss of this war.

The Critics Look Around

(By HERBERT B. ALLEN)

Winston Churchill's government has proved to be one of the weakest wartime administrations that Britain has experienced. An entire series of disasters graphically and tragically demonstrate its genral lack of power and ability. Increasingly unpopular in Britain, it is even more unpopular in the British Dominions.

However, being dissatisfied with Churchill is one thing, but finding someone to replace him is quite another matter. No one on the British political scene appears to have the ability to take over at this critical stage.

Churchill was not directly responsible for the fall of Tobruk in the sense popularly imagined. Conditions beyond his control contributed to Rommel's victory. Important as it was to keep the Nazis and Italians as far west of Egypt, and the Suez Canal, as possible even more important problems arose in consequence of Japan's victories in the Far East.

These problems were the defense of Australia, New Zealand, India and Ceylon. It was only natural and logical that the governments of Australia and New Zealand should demand the return of their own soldiers from North Africa for the defense of their threatened homeland.

Large numbers of veteran desert fighters were from "down under" and their loss was a very severe blow to the British army in North Africa. Large numbers of men, military stores, and the precious shipping necessary for their transport, had to be withdrawn from North Africa at the very time when large reinforcements were needed to cope with Rommel's steadily growing army. That is the story of Tobruk.

With no intention of minimizing the seriousness of the British reserves in North Africa, it may be noted that the loss of the North African desert is not itself a serious blow to the United Nations. What is of vital importance is that the Egyptian defense of the Suez Canal be successfully held, and the route to the oil of the Near East be blocked.

Tobruk is but one more example of the sacrifices that have been made in order to protect other points which the United Nations must hold at all costs. These points are Australia, New Zealand, India and Ceylon.

While Churchill is not directly responsible for Tobruk, he is most certainly indirectly responsible. New Zealand, Australia, India and Ceylon were placed in peril of Japanese invasion through the criminal negligence of the American commanders at Pearl Harbor, and through the lack of foresight and decision in Churchill's ineffective War Cabinet.

The fall of Tobruk traces directly to Pearl Harbor, the most disgraceful episode in the history of an English speaking navy; and to the dismal folly of Singapore. Admiral Kimmel and General Short are personally responsible for the fiasco of Pearl Harbor; and Winston Churchill is personally responsible for the fiasco of Singapore. The responsibility is direct and unavoidable.

Churchill is not one of the usual dull and unimaginative British politicians. He was a gallant officer in the British Army; he was civilian directing head of the Royal Navy in wartime; he is a distinguished author and historian; and he is the brilliant biographer of one of England's military heroes.

Churchill is intimately acquainted with the incredible stupidity of many of those colonial governors, admirals and generals of the British service who owe their rank solely to their membership in the British aristocracy.

That such gilded dumbbells were permitted to fritter away one of the most valuable and most strategic parts of the Empire, at Singapore, should alone have swept Winston Churchill from power had there been a man capable of succeeding him. Unfortunately, such a man was not available then, and apparently none is available now.

However, Churchill has to his credit the fact that he has personified to the world the invincible integrity and the unyielding tenacity of British character. He has been a tremendous stablilizing influence throughout the democratic world, and a veritable Rock of Gibraltar to the United Nations.

Nothing whatsoever is to be said of the Americans, General Short and Admiral Kimmel. They represent something even more sinister than professional incompetence. Short and Kimmel represent the heavy handicap of age that burdens the shoulders of ALL the senior officers that command the United States Army and Navy. The sole exception is in the Air Corps, and this change was forced upon the army by sheer physical necessity.

Pearl Harbor initiated the long series of reverses which commenced at Hong Kong and continued down through Malaya, Singapore, Borneo, Celebes, Sumatra, Java, New Guinea and Burma; and which culminated in the fall of Baatan and the loss of the Philippines.

These losses endangered Australia, New Zealand, India and Ceylon. Soldiers, supplies and shipping were withdrawn from North Africa and sent to their defense. These withdrawals cost the fall of Tobruk. Now the Suez Canal is imperiled by the Nazi drive to oil in the Near East.

Measured in terms of its colossial consequence, Pearl Harbor will be recorded as the most disastrous blow ever suffered by Democracy in modern history. Unquestionably, the conduct of defense against aggression is the greatest inherent weakness of Democracy.

The Mysterious Building

There continues to be much speculation about the gem of architecture, built of used tin, second hand lumber and handsome doors, that was erected just south of the Piggly Wiggly store.

About ten days ago, Joe McAfee (col.) drove by towing his jack in a trailer. When the jack saw the gem of architecture, he brayed real loud, as if he thought that he was about to get back home. This circumstance made me believe that the architectural gen was intended for a jack barn.

Later in the week, however, handsome russet doors, entirely too ornate for a jack barn, were installed. This installation again made the architectural gem a mystery to me. I know good and well that a jack does not require anything but ordinary rough doors.

To add to the mystery, the ornate russet doors were entirely removed Friday ad, at this writing, the architectural gem is open to the world, the flesh and the devil.

The mystery thickens.

Invisible Greenbacks

If you were Dictator, and had the power quite easily to avert a ruinous inflation in the United States—of the type that wrecked Germany after the last war—would you do so?

You now have this power, in common with tens of millions of other plain men and women as undictatorial as yourself.

Every "runaway inflation" in history has had the same prime cause: an enormous sudden increase in the money being used by a people.

Such a swift increase in our own nation's money-supply is now taking place—invisibly! And it is we—tens of millions of patriotic citizens—who are responsible for most of that increase. Through negligence, of course, but does that make any difference?

By failing to buy War Savings Bonds, with money we can spare for that purpose, we are continually forcing the United States Treasury to create new money with which to pay its way bills.

There's a stark truth with such grave possible consequences that every adult in the land must be made to understand it, and soon.

Make the situation personal, and the exact nature of this universal guilt becomes sharper. Take out $18.75 from your wallet or handbag or bureau drawer. Last week or last month you earned that much (no doubt far more) over and above what you need to life upon. With it you could have bought a War Savings bond that would mature at $25. By failing to do so you forced the Federal Government to create exactly $18.75 of new money to pay war bills—bills which could have been paid with that money you now hold gingerly in your hand.

Month after month you keep forcing the Government to create new money by this sort of negligence. Simultaneosly tens of millions of others are guilty of the same destructive procrastination.

These multitudinous little sins of omission can easily add up to as much disaster as anything the Germans and Japanese can do to destroy American civilization.—Saturday Evening Post.

Do Not Get Too Far Out On The Limb

It is my advice to the people of this community that it would not be wise to get too far out on the limb in anticipation of huge business from 30,000 soldiers. There may never be a soldier stationed in this camp.

The United States government, aroused by the Pearl Harbor disaster and subsequent body blows, is in a fever heat of activity, trying to build for every contingency. In some cases it will neither build too wisely nor too well. It is easily conceivable that Camp McCain will be a "when if" needed camp, as the Flora plant is a "when/if" ordanance plant.

It is easily conceivable that the demand for men will be so great on the battle lines that our soldiers will have to go there untrained or partially trained, as in the last war, and that, as a consequence, the camps already operating will be sufficient to house the soldiers in training.

Many things could happen to prevent this camp being occupied by soldiers. This should be kept ever in mind, lest the people of Grenada get too far out on a limb.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

One amateur photographer said he was going to take a picture of the jack barn next to Piggly Wiggly, mark it "Thus Grenada Grows" and ask the GCW to publish it. Ok, brother, if it stays there, you take the picture and we WILL publish it.

VISIT TO CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Durrow Horn, Mrs. W. O. Geeslin and daughter, Miss Jean, returned home Friday night from California where they visited Clyde Horn and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Geeslin.

They enjoyed a 21 day sojourn in California, and stopped at places of interest along the way. They stopped at Fort Worth, Texas, Carlsbad Cavern (New Mexico) and at El Paso, Texas enroute to California. They reached March Field, Riverside, Calif., first and spent one day there with Clyde Horn; then went on to Long Beach where Mr. and Mrs. Leon Geeslin reside. They visited Clyde on several occasions after this. They had an apartment at Long Beach, which is 60 miles from Riverside, and from this small apartment home, really enjoyed their 15 day vacation. It is interesting to Grenadians to know that the Grenada party had an apartment with Mr. and Mrs. McDougal; Mrs. McDougal being the former Miss Mary Majet of Greenwood, daughter of the late Mr. Jack Majet.

The pleasure resorts visited were many, including trips, where fishing or swimming were enjoyed, to Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, San Pedro and Redondo Beach. For three days the party enjoyed the beauty and excitement of Los Angeles; visiting Hollywood, Beverley Hills and Santa Monica where on Sunday afternoon, June 21 they attended the C. B. S. broadcast, featuring Gene Autry. After the broadcast the Grenada group were introduced to Gene Autry and some of the other entertainers.

On Saturday night, (20th), they went to the Palladium, a night club famous for good food and its splendid orchestra directed by Harry James. At the Biltmore Theatre they saw the Andrews Sisters, Jack Haley and others. At Culver City they saw the M. G. M. and R. K. O. studios.

Mrs. Horn especially enjoyed the fishing trip from Rainbow pier.

On the return trip home they visited Grand Canyon, Colo. In Little Grand Canyon there are 123 miles of mountain roads. The highest sea level reached was 8000 feet.

The party came home through Hot Springs, Ark., Little Rock and Memphis.

One prominent Duckhellion reported that he was in a helluva shape that he could get all the licker he wanted in Grenada out no chaser; and that he could get all the chasers he wanted in Montgomery county, but no whiskey. Something should be done about it.

Out of respect to some of our more discriminating readers, we will say that it is as hot as seventy-seven hades, but there is nothing that we can do about it.

One poor fellow was killed on 51 [illegible] Friday [illegible]

Add to those in Class 4-B, Mike Conner and Ross Collins.

Frances Marascalco, our neighbor across the street is having a satan of a time keeping some of her little nieces and nephews, entrusted to her while the other members of the family attended church, straightened out.

I had not thought of it until Lee [illegible] reminded me of it, but it is a fact that Oscar Bledsoe, native of Grenada, is head of the ONLY farmers' organization—the Staple Cotton Growers Association that has ever kept together much longer than the organizational meeting adjourned.

At this writing (Sunday morning) there is not a door left in the "jack barn." Maybe they are going to put a halter on the jack and tie him to a ring in the floor like they do an elephant.

All had better work Saturday—July 4—to help preserve the freedom that came on that date 168 years ago. The soldiers, sailors and marines in the far flung battle zones do not "take off" on holidays.

Aint they sweet.

Our customers were kind enough to supply us with sufficient work to keep Horn and Greenfield out of devilment on last week-end. Do it again.

Just as soon as it gets a little cooler—if it ever does—I am going to cut off a bunch of delinquents.

The is too damn much joy riding, wearing out of precious rubber. Frankly, we can see no considerable abatement in the riding of the people.

Think this over: if the light bearer gets too far ahead of the followers, the followers still remain in darkness. In other words, it availeth naught to preach "over the heads" of your congregation. An editor who writes only to the few has very little effect upon the people generally. It is a long, tedious process to change the habits and thoughts of the people. Only the patient leader, the leader who creeps slowly with the light, ever has much effect upon the people.

Brother Rook "milked", or rather "buttered" out two subscriptions.

Katie was in a fairly good humor Sunday.

Our Beat Four friend, J. G. Thomas, has a job at the camp.

It is a rare thing now to see one I know in Grenada, even if I have lived here 52 years.

By good luck and the continued indulgence of my creditors I have been able to "make" another first of the month.

300 miles of precious rubber gone!! A lady just bumped her left front casing on the concrete curb. This bumping had very little bad effect upon the curb. In fact, there was no appreciable dent in it.

I am in Class B-5; too much belly, too much bridge work, too much bifocals, too much baldness and too much fanny.

Are YOU keeping your registration card in a safe place? This card furnishes a most superior means of identification.

George Lickfold has started back to school in the Mack Truck Company's plant in Dallas.

Walter McCool made everyone very happy Saturday when he left a couple of bucks on my desk.

Sgt. Heck Lane honored this office with a call recently. He is itching to get into the Air Corps.

MacArthur Should Return

By HERBERT B. ALLEN

The longer the war continues the more apparent become the difficulties of nations that fight defensive wars. The longer the war continues the more apparent become the advantages of nations that fight offensive wars.

Four months ago the Japanese gave the world a remarkable example of the advantages of an aggressive, enterprising type of warfare. Operating at great distances from her island homeland, Japan had the United Nations running around in circles, wondering where the next blow would fall. Would it be New Zealand, Australia, India, Ceylon, or in San Diego, California?

One can easily imagine the amused satisfaction with which the little yellow man commanding Japanese forces enjoyed the humiliation and discomfiture of their "superior" white enemies.

For example, while they made a pretense of attacking Australia, drawing large allied concentrations of troops, supplies and shipping from North Africa for the defense of the threatened zones, Japan was quietly preparing for the final blows to be delivered in China.

While threatening to attack India, and drawing the attention and the armed forces of the United Nations in that direction, Japan was quietly preparing to land its armed forces on the outer islands of Alaska—a third of the distance around the globe from tropical India.

While all this was happening, our Army General Staff had apparently gone into the training camp business, building camp after camp, and planning to place the nation under canvas. Could it be possible that the General Staff has become so involved in training programs that it has completely forgotten that there is a war going on; that Democracy is on its back fighting for its very existence? Has the General Staff decided to delay going into battle until four months before the war ends, as was the case in the first World War.

In the newsreels, I witness splendidly executed maneuvers by perfectly trained formations of American planes. How long does the General Staff intend to keep pilots fighting before movie cameras? How long are these pilots going to be kept in the United States when they should at this very hour be in the air in Europe, relieving the pressure on the Russian fronts?

In last year's fighting, Russia lost her Detroit and her Pittsburgh. In consideration of that fact, Russian defense this year has been as miraculous as it has been bloody. But Germany has not yet lost her Detroit and her Pittsburgh!

The Air Corps should be about the business of destroying Germany's Detroit and Pittsburgh today—not next September or next May. What is the Air Corps for if it is not to be placed in combat service after American pilots have been given the ultimate in training?

This country is giving Russia some aid in the form of mechanized equipment, delivered by a small number of merchant vessels, to a point far distant from Russia's fighting fronts. That aid is only a drop in the bucket of Russia's requirements.

Real aid to Russia, on a vastly more effective scale, could be given immediately if only 1000 American planes were daily hammering the Nazis on the western front, raiding the Rhineland, and relieving the pressure of the Luftwaffe over the Russian lines. That would be powerful, efficient military assistance.

We appear to have a policy of seeing how many planes we can manufacture, how many flying fields we can construct, and how many pilots we can train. We seem to have lost sight of the target at which this entire program is directed. Our object is to get these planes and pilots into the combat service!

Rather than to learn how many more AEF's have gone into new training camps in Northern Ireland, we want to learn that American pilots are in the air over Germany. We want to learn that we not only can manufacture planes and train pilots, but that our Air Corps can get RESULTS!

In Philadelphia recently, the Chief of the Engineer Corps addressed a group of marine engineers, and he told them exactly what tonnage it takes to transport just one soldier of a mechanized unit overseas. His statement was authoritative, for engineers do not deal in fiction.

In the light of his figures, it is to be wondered if those responsible for the creation of the enormous armies now being conscripted in the country have any idea what they are going to do with these ground forces. Are they being trained for the defense of Albuquerque, New Mexico?

Have the Chief of Staff and the President ever seen the figures of the Chief Engineers on the tonnage required to move troops across the ocean? Or do these gentlemen believe in figures only when they are applied to millions of men in training camps?

The submarine menace increases weekly, in spite of the claim that it is being brought under control, while the country loses confidence in the figures released by the navy. As the shipping situation becomes more acute, the army trains more hundreds of thousands, and the General Staff fails to give any signs of becoming combat minded.

There is something cockeyed about all this. Are we conscripting and training a National Guard to remain in this country while civilizaton perishes? Are we conscripting and training a vast army of men for no one knows what purpose?

It is about time that someone is placed at the head of the U. S. Army who can bring order out of chaos, who can instill a fighting spirit into the nation, and who can put the old women on the General Staff into an old ladies' home—and get actively about the business for which armies are raised and trained; that is FIGHTING!

There is only one General in this nation in whom the American people have any confidence—who has had any combat experience. He is now on loan to the friendly Commonwealth of Australia. The trend of the war has recently indicated that his services are no longer so urgently needed in organizing the defense of Austalia as they are required in organizing our own war effort.

General Douglas MacArthur is now needed for duty in the United States as the active commander of our army. The present personnel of the General Staff has demonstrated that it lacks the drive, the spirit and the professional competence to give the country what it must have and must have soon!

We must have a task army, no longer than is absolutely necessary to accomplish its objectives; an army that has in its heart and in its mind those qualities that can only be instilled in soldiers by a commander who personifies in his own person those soldierly qualities which are incarnate in Douglas MacArthur.

MacArthur should return!

From Many Fields

Many members of the New York Stock exchange have unusual occupational backgrounds, says Collier's. For example, the roster today includes a former undertaker, jockey, explorer, magician, prize fighter, army general, baseball player, vaudeville dancer, and a night-club singer. There is also an ordained minister, the Reverend Chester Apy, who bought his seat in 1929 and still preaches every Sunday in the Church of the Second Advent in Eatontown, N. J.

One thing a soldier is afraid of is a display of emotion. That's why his slang so often sounds derogatory. For example, he refers to the silver eagles on his colonel's shoulder straps as "buzzards." But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in service men's stores.) A gift of a carton of Camels is always well received. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send to any member of our armed forces. Hint for the day: Send "him" a carton of Camels.—Adv.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Sick Soils Have Effect on Animals

Earth Should Be 'Factories,' Not Mines

By DR. WILLIAM A. ALBRECHT
(Department of Soils, College of Agriculture, University of Missouri.)

That sick soils will not build healthy animals any more than they will produce sturdy field crops is significant in view of our national tendency to combat soil erosion by allowing much of the fertility-depleted soil to go back to grass.

In place of giving attention to soil fertility measures that feed growing plants, we have too often adopted the practice of "crop hunting" in the mistaken belief that when one crop starves another can be found that will thrive on the same depleted land. But we can't breed crops against starvation any more than a sterile parent can transmit the character of sterility.

Evidences of declining soil fertility are seen in the greater number of deficiency diseases among our farm animals. Veterinarians are constantly faced with increasing cases of strange animal ailments for which no specific body weakness or visible physiological cause can be found. Eye ailments, a tendency to blindness, bad gaits, rounded back lines, inferior condition, poor feeding progress, and even debility and death can be traced to deficiencies in animals' nutrition.

If newer legumes or non-legumes grow more successfully on less fertile land, then such crops must be taking less nutrient from the soil. Thus these crops can offer the animals that feed on them less of protein and of ash which, for animals the same as for plants, are the items drawn from the soil.

Animals Limited in Feeding.

Confined as they are, animals are limited in their feeding by the soil fertility of the farm. Supplements such as proteins contain too little of the minerals needed. And when animals protest by rooting up the very earth or climbing the fence in search of better forage, such actions are met by rings in the nose or cumbersome yokes about the neck. Human serfs have been prohibited in this country for about 75 years, but animal slaves can be seen on any trip through the country. Too often they are almost in a state of starvation because their master, the farm owner, neglects his soil fertility.

Our soils must become factories instead of continuing as mines from which the fertility is unendingly drawn. Raw materials such as limestone, phosphorus, potash, and other fertilizing elements, organic matter and other plant nutrients must go back into the soil. In our "soil factories" we must produce more usable nutrients for plant service. Such nutrients must not be hauled off unless equal amounts are restored.

Consumption of Fats, Oils

Recently the United States used approximately 6½ billion pounds of fats and oils in edible products; two billion in soaps, one billion in paints, varnishes, printing inks and linoleum products, and 0.5 billion was used for a variety of industrial purposes.

Cutting Costs

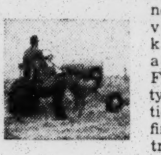
The department of agriculture is strongly urging partnership in use and purchase of equipment.



Two Floyd county, Texas, farmers have been showing their neighbors the value of this kind of joint action. These Farm Security administration borrowers first bought a tractor outfit together in 1940. Sharing the $1,030 outlay and the operating expenses proved to them the advantages of partnership.

Their second enterprise was buying a pure-bred Jersey bull, which cost $150. Then they bought a seven-foot power-take-off mower, a feed mill mounted for transport, and a ground-driven row binder.

The two farmers say that the machinery they joined in buying saved their crops last fall. They figure that what they did as a common sense plan will have to be done by others from sheer necessity.

Urea for Growing Lambs

Farmers were told of tests in the laboratories of a university's division of animal nutrition in which the performance of growing lambs fed urea was compared with that of lambs fed diets containing such protein sources as soybean oil meal, casein, skim milk and corn gluten feed. With rations of a 12 per cent protein level, 50 per cent of the nitrogen as urea is as satisfactory a source of nitrogen as commonly used protein concentrates.

Only Human

By EDGAR T. MONFORT
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

"YOU certainly have a wonderful little daughter, Macbreath. Looks like a flapper, but isn't. Nice and sweet. Sort of old fashioned in her manner toward men. That's what I call a fine girl."

Macbreath flicked the ashes from his cigar and looked out at the velvety golf course that stretched away from in front of the Westview Golf and Country Club and slipped off into the trees in the distance.

"Emily's proved a theory I've always had," Macbreath said after a moment. "I'm certain in my own mind that fathers make the best mothers. It's the women who make flappers of their daughters. Now, I've raised Emily since she was ten, brought her up to be a man's sort of girl, taught her to obey me in everything, always to consider my wishes, but I've been careful to let her see my reasons for doing things; why I think my opinion best. Now, most girls choose their own boy friends, go with whom they please, but that isn't Emily. I know exactly whom she's going to marry. Of course, it may be years from now. I hope it will be, but he's a fine fellow, has money and position and all the qualities a husband should have. No crazy running off with the chauffeur or some little counter jumper in my family—just because he happens to wear his clothes wonderfully or looks like Clark Gable . . . She got interested in a fellow when she was off at school, Jim Atworth. It was pretty serious and he came down to see me, but I knew it would never do. The boy's a fine, clean fellow, but he has nothing and probably never will have, not much social position either, I imagine. I talked to her about it and she was perfectly reasonable, gave him up without a word and has been running around with a dozen others since."

"It certainly is wonderful to have a girl like that," said Montgomery slowly. "Now, my Margaret almost snaps her fingers in my face if I try to tell her anything; in fact, I'm honestly afraid of her. She says her life's her own and she'll live it to suit herself and those who don't like it can lump it. And petting parties, good Lord!"

"That's another thing Emily never does," said Macbreath with satisfaction. "We got confidential the other night on the porch and she told me that she never had kissed a man in her life."

Macbreath looked at his watch and went to his car. Montgomery left also for a bit of golf. The little group had scattered.

As the high powered imported machine purred along the boulevard that was flanked by magnificent lawns and shrubbery Macbreath's mind was still on his daughter Emily. He was proud of her; but more especially of himself, for having made such a good job of her upbringing. She was on a par with the other experiences of his life, he reflected; he had finally controlled everything with which he had come connected.

Emily met him at the door and after giving him a daughterly peck on the cheek danced over to the radio and tuned in on some jazz.

"That's a hot song, isn't it, dad?" she laughed, tossing her slimness into a chair and languidly turning the pages of a movie magazine. "What'd you old fogies talk about out at the club 'safternoon? I bet it was about women."

"It was about—you," said Macbreath, remembering the conversation with returning pride and satisfaction.

"Well, that was an innocent enough topic," she confessed, "but what did you say about me?"

"Nothing of much interest . . . I guess I'd better go up and get ready for dinner."

After dinner Macbreath went back to his club and bridge. Emily had a theater date she explained, so she would not be lonely.

When Macbreath returned late that evening the house was all in darkness. Emily was already in bed, he decided. He went straight to his room and prepared for the night. As he threw back the covers of his bed his eye struck a note pinned to his pillow and quickly taking it to the light he read:

Darling Dad,

Don't think I don't love you because I just dote on my precious old fogy dad, but by the time you read this Jimmy Atworth and I will be married and speeding away on our honeymoon. I know you didn't approve of him but I did—so we just decided to take the plunge. There was no use trying to reason it out with you because you never change your mind, so I'm doing like I've always had to do; say yes, dad, then go and do as I please.

I love you heaps and bushels and Jimmy and I'll be over to see you soon.

Devotedly,

EMILY.

When Macbreath had finished reading the note he dropped into a chair and held his head while his world of illusion tumbled down around his ears. After a long, long time he got up and crawled to bed.

"Oh, well," he said to his pillow with a wry smile, "human beings will be human, but I bet they rag me to death at the club tomorrow."

NEW IDEAS
For Home-makers
By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

WOMEN today are not the first to discover a war-time shortage of floor coverings. The glowing Oriental rugs of the Colonial mansion ceased to be imported during the Revolution; and the simple hooked rug made from old clothing began to be developed.

Then, as now, scroll borders around a flower motif were popular. The posies were designed according to individual taste but scroll patterns went the rounds of neighbors who traced the patterns on the burlap or canvas rug foundation. Today wax crayon is generally used for tracing. You will find it easy to make a cut-out pattern by first ruling paper into one-inch squares and then copying the curves in the sketch.

NOTE: If you wish to make a scroll pattern be sure to clip this diagram and save it as it is not in any of the booklets which Mrs. Spears has prepared for readers; however, Book 5 contains two designs and directions for making original designs. To get a copy, send your order to:

Here's a Gentler Way to Treat Constipation!

Do you think you have to take harsh cathartics or purges every time constipation makes you miserable? You don't — if you are one of those people with normal intestines who suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. There is a pleasanter and gentler way.

All you do is eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is a crisp, delicious cereal. It works quite differently from many medicinal laxatives. They work by prodding the intestines into action or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. But ALL-BRAN acts principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, see a doctor.

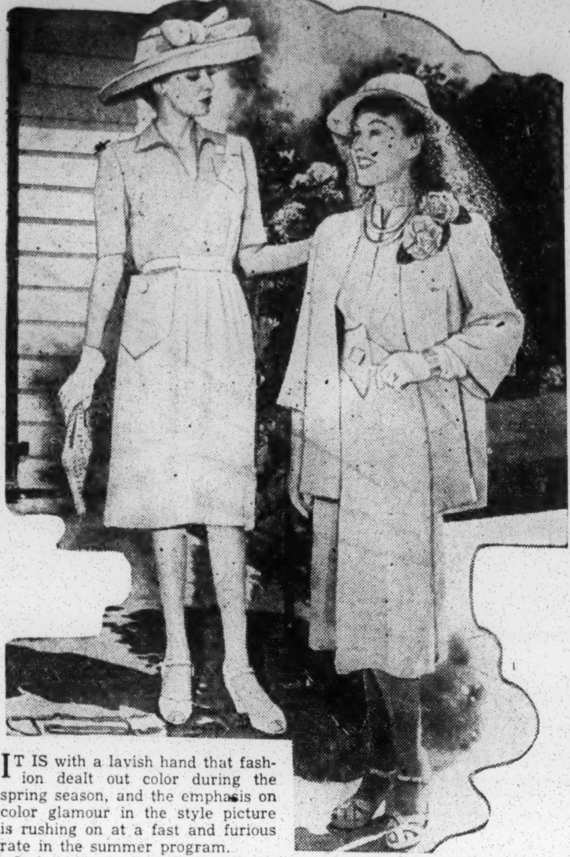
Summer Fashions Tell a Story Of Fascinating Color Trends

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



IT IS with a lavish hand that fashion dealt out color during the spring season, and the emphasis on color glamour in the style picture is rushing on at a fast and furious rate in the summer program.

It is not only that designers are making a brilliant record in carrying out color technique that gives full play to the imagination in the matter of almost unbelievable combinations that either contrast or blend, but the fact that featured individual colors are in themselves so refreshingly "new" and out of the ordinary makes this a season that fairly thrills with excitement. Speaking in general, the scheme of things seems to indicate gowns and suits styled with sophisticated simplicity, yet so strikingly colorful there's never a dull moment throughout the current fashion program.

Two outstanding trends that lead to a new high in color glory in the summer picture stress flattering, romantic grays in soft sheers for both day and evening wear, and also a mad rush for dresses, coats, millinery and accessories done in bright yellows, lemon yellow being most important of all.

The flattery of these colors is told in the two handsome, summery costumes pictured in the above illustration. In each instance it is color that exultantly gives drama to the ensemble. The simple dress, topped with a swank, short box coat, shown to the right presents a monotone color scheme in the very new lemon yellow. The dress is the newly approved length with the straight skirt which is on the way for fall. The sleeves are short, as most sleeves are wont to be in summery frocks. A wide girdle belt of self-fabric fastens in front with a square covered button. The coat has cuffless bracelet-length sleeves. The hat is in matching yellow straw with white polka dot veiling draped under the chin.

With ladies of fashion who appreciate the refined loveliness and subtle flattery of soft grays a preference is growing for costumes made of exquisite gray sheers having an air of distinction about them that makes definite appeal to discriminating taste. The smartly styled summer gown pictured to the left in the above illustration is in this class which dramatizes sophisticated simplicity which conveys its message through style-correct color. It is detailed with touches of chartreuse, and the wide-of-brim sun hat is carried out in chartreuse.

Speaking of color importance, "ginger" is very much exploited this season. The fashion-alert are wearing colored straw hats with their black, navy or white dresses and suits this season, and the popularity of this color is reflected in entire costumes, from hat to shoes, carried out in monotone ginger with which topaz jewelry is effectively worn.

Considerable attention is being given to brown-and-white alliances. This is especially noticeable in the latest prints, so many of which are in brown patterned on a white background or in white on brown. Hats of brown straw that are be-ribboned in white are also fashionable.

Color is especially carrying on at a fast and furious rate in the realm of play clothes and casual daytime apparel.

Grooming Essential To Chic Appearance

Now that wartime chic is ushering in simplicity in dress, placing special emphasis on practical suits, it becomes more than ever essential that special care be given to the matter of neat grooming.

A simple, becoming hair-do, a fresh looking complexion, a sparkle in your eye and you will look attractive no matter how simple your suit or your uniform.

Economy is the better part of beauty these days, so the busy woman will find it practical to invest in some basic, many purpose products. One of these is witch hazel. Borrow the good qualities of this old standby from your medicine chest, and give yourself a facial. Witch hazel applied with a piece of cotton cleanses, freshens and tones up the skin all in one quick operation.

And be sure to take good care of your clothes. Brush them often and have them cleaned when necessary to preserve the life of the garment.

Brush your hair, scrub your face, file your nails to an efficient oval and you will find that, although all this takes a little time, it will pay one of the most priceless dividends —the chic appearance only good grooming can give.

Fine Batiste

In the revival of exquisitely fine batiste for the making of "nighties" and foundation slips an old fashion is becoming a new fashion. In the better lingerie departments and specialty shops a revelation of lovely lace-trimmed and finely tucked garments is to be seen reminiscent of grandmother's cherished wardrobe of dainty "undies."

Bows on Parade

The new slim silhouette advocated by the War Production board in its fabric conservation efforts is smartly interpreted in this New York creation of brown crepe animated by pert little bows of brown and white polka-dotted crepe. Bows are certainly going on parade this summer in unexpected ways. This scatter treatment, for example, animates the dress neckline to hemline. The large cartwheel hat is of white sheer straw. Note the flattering border of brown horsehair mesh. And the hat, in a clever style gesture, buttons on.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for July 5

GOD THE CREATOR

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 1:1-5, 24-31; 2:1.
GOLDEN TEXT—In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.—Genesis 1:1.

What is to become of this world? That is the question on the mind and lips of everyone as they see all mankind engaged in a struggle which bids fair to wipe out everything called civilization.

In such a time it is good to remind ourselves that man did not make this world, nor is it the product of natural forces. God made it.

God, who is eternal, infinite, knowing all from the beginning, is not moved by the impulses of the moment nor staggered by the catastrophes of a day. He made the world. He made man. He had a plan for them, and still has a plan which in due season, He will work out for His own glory.

I. God Made the Heavens and Earth (vv. 1-5, 24-25).

The plain biblical account of creation—"In the beginning God"—stands as a dignified, satisfactory, intelligent explanation of the origin of things, and in bold contrast to the confusing and almost unbelievable theories of men.

The best of scientists admit that they know nothing of the origin of things, and some even confess that they never will know. The answer to the query with which every human philosophy opens is the affirmation with which the divine account in Genesis opens—"In the beginning God."

Space forbids full discussion of the account of creation, but a study of it will reveal its beautiful order, symmetry, and completeness. Science, when it gets beyond theories to facts, finds them confirmed by Scripture. Please do not reverse that and speak of science confirming Scripture. If my watch does not agree with the time of the stars, it is the watch that must be reset.

II. God Made Man in His Own Image (vv. 26-30).

Although man, under the control of Satan, does not give much ground for the observation, it is nevertheless true that he was made in the likeness and image of God. Because that is true, we never give up hope for him. That image, no matter how deeply defaced by sin, still may be touched by redeeming grace and restored to fellowship with God.

The likeness and image of God in man undoubtedly refers to a moral and spiritual likeness. Man is a living soul with intelligence, feeling, and will power. He is a moral being, knowing the difference between right and wrong. He is a self-conscious, personal being.

To man God gave dominion over the earth and all its potential powers. Sometimes one has been hopeful that man was making good progress in the development of the earth's resources for his own good and the glory of God. But one is almost tempted to conclude now that he has used this great God-given opportunity only for destruction and death. Only a revival of real Christianity can bring him back to his senses. Let us pray and work for it.

Observe that the family was established as the center of man's life on earth, as God gave him a "help meet unto him." Woman was taken "not out of man's head that she should rule over him; nor out of his feet to be trampled upon; but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected by him, and near his heart to be loved by him" (Matthew Henry).

The decay of family life and the substitution of social or civic units as the basis of life have led to disastrous results. Not only do we need a revival of religion, we also need a revival of the home life of the nation.

III. God's Creation Was Complete and Good (1:31; 2:1).

When men do recognize the hand of God in creation they all too often seem to feel that what He made was very limited and defective. It would almost seem that God ought to be grateful that man has been so clever about perfecting His work, developing it and making it useful. As a matter of fact, God who had all knowledge and whose standards are higher than man's standards could possibly be, looked over His creation and "behold, it was very good" (v. 31). It was a "finished" job (2:1).

Man has destroyed much of its beauty. Sin came in and marred the whole creation. What man's inventive cleverness has developed of the possibilities of this world is only a minute fraction of what is yet available. Instead of boasting, man might well be ashamed of the pathetic slowness with which he has "thought God's thoughts after Him."

Instead of fighting and destroying, he ought to give his energies to building, developing, and above all, to loving God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself (Matt. 22:37-40). This is God's first and great commandment to you and to me.

Household Hints

When ironing puffed sleeves, fold the sleeve in halves, pulling apart as it sticks. In this way you can get down into the gathers at the top. Iron it dry and you will have a pretty puffed sleeve when it is done.

* * *

If strawberry jam should sugar, mix it with two parts of cooked rhubarb to the one of jam, cook together for a few minutes and you will have an excellent pie filler, cobbler filler or sauce.

* * *

Add a pinch of salt to your cream before whipping.

* * *

Before working in the garden, put soap under and around your finger nails. You will find them much easier to clean.

* * *

Leather never should be cleaned with gasoline, naptha or any hydrocarbon solution. They dissolve and remove all the essential fats in the leather, leaving it dry and harsh.

WAR with a WALLOP!

In this vast globular struggle of ours, a fighting front is any place where we need men and munitions to contact and destroy the enemy.

Already, as disclosed by President Roosevelt, our troops are stationed in "South America, Greenland, Iceland, the British Isles, the Near East, the Middle East, the Far East, Australia, and many islands of the Pacific."

But wallop in war begins at home! A fighting front is only as strong as the home front. Everywhere rises the shout for mighty bombers, monster tanks, big death-throwing guns, and small arms. It's up to . . . US! Our boys are depending on us! And we won't let them down! We're 100 percent behind the front!

Because more and more steel must be had for tanks and trucks . . we happily give up the convenience of our cars.

Because mechanized units must roll on sturdy rubber . . . we give our tires, gladly! We willingly walk to win!

Because huge quantities of aluminum are essential to "Keep 'Em Flying" . . . we want the government to give wings to our pots and pans!

Because soldiers to fight well must eat well . . . we say ration us. Better hitch in our belts that a hitch in our war plans.

To you fighting fellows everywhere, listen! We're all in this all-out effort together. We're punching the time-clocks while you're punching the foe. We'll deliver the "goods" so you can deliver the knock-out That is our promise!
